Feelings and emotions in CEIP "Donoso Cortés"

We imagine that emotions can fly very high •Click on the images of the following slide for videos. •Here another one •video

We imagine that if we draw what we are feeling we can manage it

We imagine that we can play with emotions and say how we are feeling in English

We imagine that if we make a beautiful book about emotions, we will understand ourself and the others

We imagine a classroom where everyone is welcome and we say beautiful words

We imagine a world without war

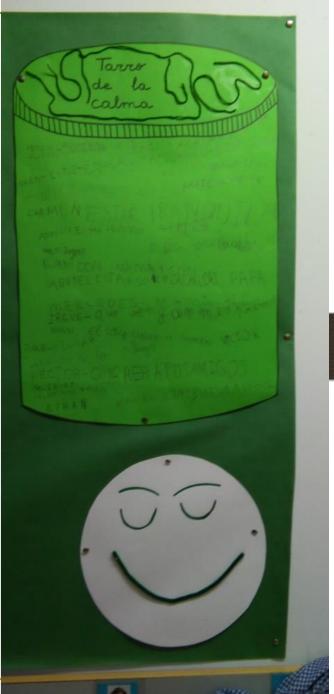

We imagine that the calmness is green

We imagine that the love is pink

We imagine that the sadness is blue

We imagine that the fear is black

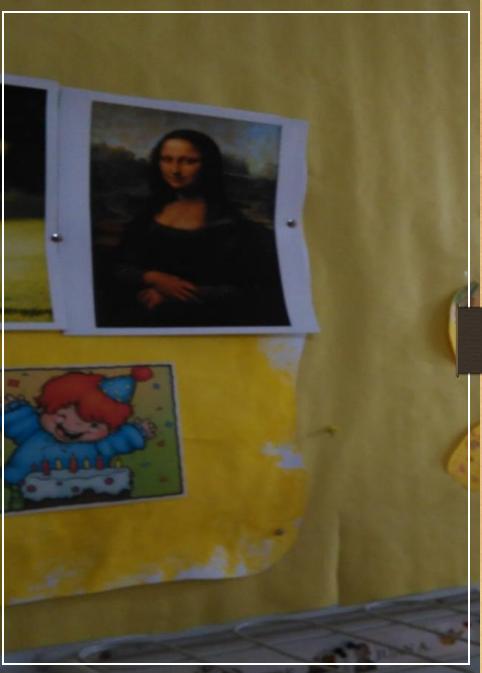

We imagine that the anger is red

We imagine that the happyness is yellow

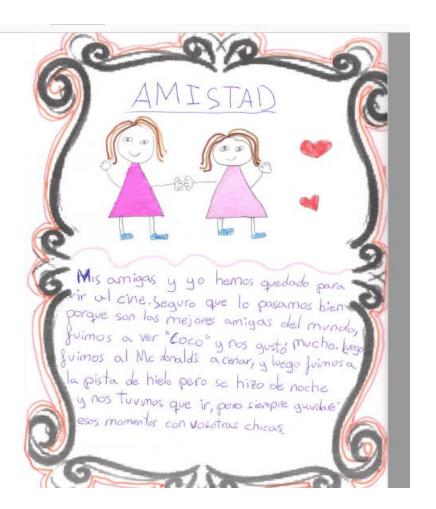

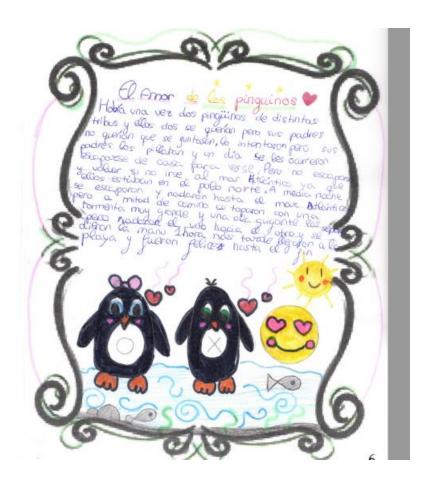

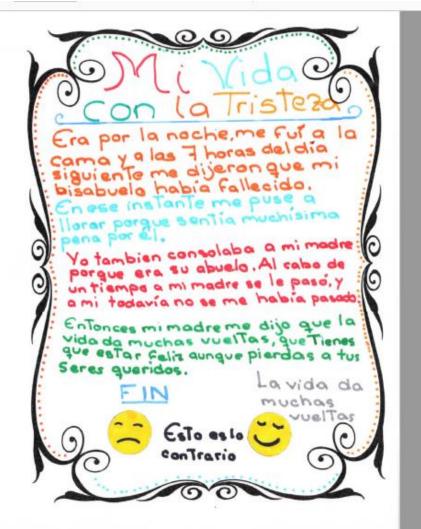

And that I can feel everything

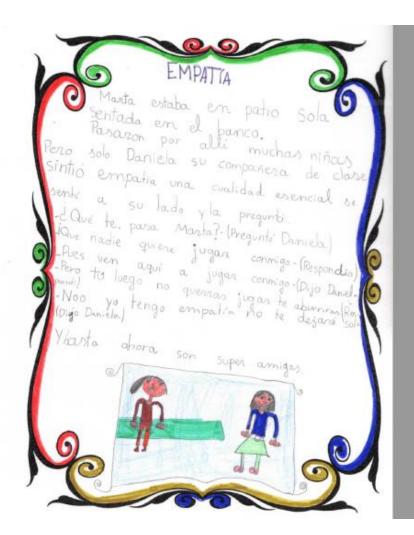

We love writing about our feelings

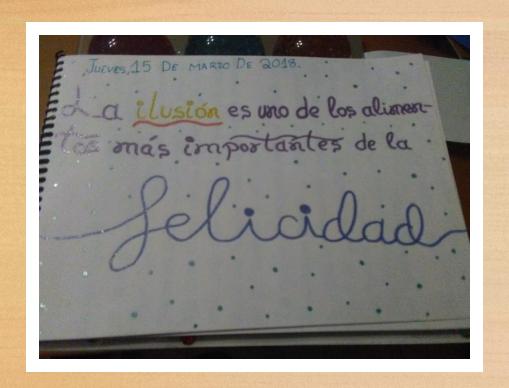

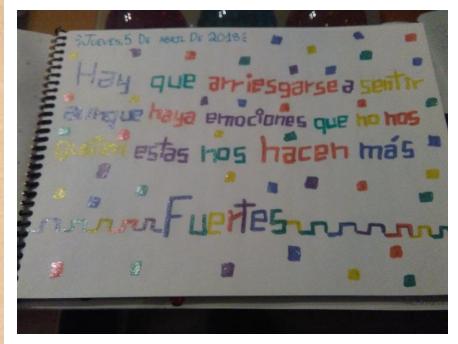

And make a diary about it

We also love reading books about emotions

We have lots of books about emotions in the school library. Our teachers have made a book guide with them.

We consider that a brave student is who has a big heart.

We have discussed about the song: "Se buscan valientes", "Brave mates are wanted"

The song talk about we are important to support those who are been bullying as there should be only books in their bags.

The song says "Do not look at to the other side"

And it has words full of hope for those students because there are brave mates with a big heart that will help them.

This song is very popular in all schools because the singer use a kind of music that students love and it is a great way to encourage them not to let bullying at school.

We consider that we can calm each other instead to fight

Some teachers have tought them how to manage the anger with games and how to calm down.

Every single clasroom has worked on emotions in different ways, talking to the students, letting the students to talk about how they are feelling and how they c an solve the differences with their mates, at the school or in the park. •agregar texto

Every single clasroom has worked on emotions in different ways, talking to the students, letting the students to talk about how they are feelling and how they can solve the differences with their mates, at the school or in the park.

There are places in the classrooms or in the corridors where you can show the others how you feel today.
